ONE DOWNED IN A RUNAWAY

TRAFFIC ON RIO GRANDE WAS DELAYED FOUR HOURS YESTERDAY BY THE RASH ACTION OF A BOVINE.

A head-end collision on the line of the Denver & Rio Grande road between Colorado Springs and Manitou was stopped on account of one white cow.

The accident which derailed a freight car and dumped it half way over a steep embankment occurred at First street and Washington avenue. The car which struck the cow was being pushed by an engine and shoved the animal clear across a 60-foot trestle. In the middle of the bridge the car was derailed and bumped over the ties for several yards and upon reaching the end, pitched over the bank. It took a force of a dozen men over three hours to get the car back on the track. No one was injured and the cow although killed, was barely cut by the accident.

"DEVIL'S SLIDE" ON THE SHORT LINE IS CAUSING IT TO SAVE SLIP COMPLETELY INTO THE CANON BELOW.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 5.—It was reported in the district tonight that the Devil's Slide, one of the scenic points along the Short Line tracks, between Summit and Fairview had crumbled away as the result of the heavy rains of the past few days. According to the rumor about 900 cubic yards of decomposed granite had slid from this point into the canon below, carrying part of the tracks of this line. The slide is said to have originated with a passenger on the train which is due in the district at 9:45 o'clock p. m., but which was slightly overdue tonight.

Officials of the Short Line who were shown this report last evening were inclined to place little credence in it. They expressed the opinion that the story referred to the slide of two days ago which came as the result of unusually heavy rains. It was stated that all trains were being run on schedule time.

GLASS SAFE AND COLLEGE TRACK EVENTS

There will be more college students in Colorado Springs tomorrow than have been here for many days. Every school in the Intercollegiate Athletic association will send large delegations of rooters, in addition to their track teams, to the big intercollegiate field day to be held on Washburn field tomorrow afternoon. There will be a special train from Boulder and Greeley, a special from Denver and Golden and a passenger coach or two from Ft. Collins.

To lend interest to the meet and to furnish additional entertainment for the spectators, Manager R. M. Wood of the Colorado college team, who has the affair in charge, has secured the Wedding of the World band. The band will be seated in the center of the grandstand and the rooters of the different [illegible] will be grouped around it.

Dr. C. A. Holden has consented to officiate as clerk of the course. [illegible]

The meet will mean that the events will not be allowed to drag, as Dr. Holder is a Columbia athlete, and has had much experience in handling track and field athletics. The meet will begin promptly at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon and both track and field events will be in progress at the same time.

Through the generosity of local business and professional men, $100 has been raised for special prizes for the meet. The individual winner of each event will be given a handsome silver loving cup. To the teams of second place medals will be given.

The track is being placed in good condition for the meet and promises to be very fast. Captain Painter, the star man of the Colorado college aggregation, is in fine shape and will enter at least three of the track events. Rice is also in good shape and with other material, the Tigers expect to go a long way toward landing the championship.

DENVER WON GOOD GAME

St. Joe Played a Little Too Wise

BUT WAS GOOD AT BAT

FIVE HITS OFF SMITH IN THE SECOND INNING ENABLED THE VISITORS TO SCORE FIVE RUNS.

Special to the Gazette.

Denver, May 5.—Denver won today, 5 to 2, in a game that was a credit to neither team.

A kick by Kenna started St. Joseph's run getting in the second inning. Kenna flew out and Lavigne followed him. Then Schelbeck hit and went out, landing Webster, who had hit safely, at third. It was then that Kenna batted and Webster went on home, bringing in the first run. Semple did the rest of the business for the Saints. He looked over three of Kenna's collection and then went to his base without checking up. McConnell did the best he could, which was nothing, and Semple came through at the same time. Then Belden came up with a nice clean one that did the work.

Denver played ball that would have disgraced a high school and St. Joseph was not far behind, although it made the locals look like a bunch of white elephants when it came to stick work.

DENVER WON GOOD GAME

"Cod's" Comment

Plate you into the moment?

It is a parrot and he can swear beautifully.

"Polly" watches the games from the club house.

There was a surprising lack of [illegible] here [illegible]ays.

Nothing better than two-baggers and they were all made by the locals.

Thornton made a nice one-hand catch of Lohr's bouncer yesterday.

Ryan did another grandstand stunt yesterday when he made his brilliant catch of Messerley's long fly.

It seems as if it has been changed from the "lucky seventh" to the "lucky sixth."

It's a cinch that there is no Colorado rubber in Jimmie Ryan's mit.

Captain-Manager Jay Andrews was called east last night by a telegram announcing the death of his father in Washington, Iowa.

Yesterday's was the nearest approach to an errorless game yet furnished by the locals. Kahl made the only bobble.

Messerley, who is captain of the visiting team, in the absence of Andrews made a clever catch of Nill's foul in the fourth inning, scooping the ball off the netting of the bleachers.

The visitors' two errors in the sixth yesterday proved costly at the time but did not lose the game.

The sacrifice hitters were busy yesterday. Thornton, Messitt and Coons for the locals and Kostal for the visitors did the scientific batting.

After the Sioux tied the score in the sixth they got two men on bases with no outs. Neither Hurlburt, Fremer nor Parker could handle the stick, however.

In the third the visitors loaded the sacks but there were two hands out and Hess could not make a hit.

Tommy Messitt came near putting the finishing touches on Umpire Carruthers yesterday when he sent a hot liner straight toward the official. Carruthers dropped like a flash.

"Never strike an umpire under any circumstances," says Jay Andrews to his men, but Jay's looks yesterday when he was put off the grounds would make one believe that he thought differently.

Hess, the visiting catcher, hurt his right arm and had to leave the game in the seventh inning. Hearler, whom Andrews secured from Denver and who played with Peoria last season, relieved him.

"Speaking of hair-raising finishes," says Jay Andrews, "that game the Rock Island team played with Omaha in 1894, goes a long way toward beating the record. The score was 18 to 8 against us in the ninth when we came to the bat. Two men went out and the fans were leaving. Then two home runs were knocked and before we were through batting, the score was 20 to 18 in our favor.

The Millionaires now have the finest club house in the Western league and one of the finest in the country. The former residence of the grounds-keeper has been transformed into the players' quarters and fitted up with hot and cold shower baths, porcelain tubs, three-foot lockers and many other conveniences for the men. Considerable money was spent by the management in fitting the place up.

TRACK TEAM

Fallon Elected Captain of High School Athletes, Who Will Go to Pueblo Today.

The High school track team which is to represent Colorado Springs in the interscholastic [illegible] to be held in Pueblo one week from Saturday was selected yesterday morning. The team will be composed of the following students: Dan Fallon, Joe Hartman, Ellis Tait, William Cort, Reuben Rose, Ward Randolph Gates, Shirley [illegible], Jack Hazell and Delph Hackett. The ten men were selected on account of the showing they made in the class meet held on Washburn field Wednesday afternoon.

Fallon was elected captain yesterday and will have charge of the final training of the team.

ACADEMY IN CAMP; HIGH SCHOOL AT PUEBLO.

The High school and Cutler Academy baseball teams will both be out of the city tomorrow. The High school nine goes to Pueblo to meet the Centennials in a championship game of the Southern Interscholastic league. The Cutler Academy team, which now leads the league, will play a practice game with the Cripple Creek High school aggregation in Cripple Creek.

Wednesday excursions will be run between Pueblo and St. Louis during the World's fair. Twenty-one days will be allowed for the round trip. Fourteen days at the World's

SIOUX CAPTURED GOOD GAME

Sioux City Was Not Caught Napping Yesterday.

GAME CLOSE THROUGHOUT

COLORADO WON A VICTORY [illegible] WAS WORTH WINNING, AND BOTH TEAMS GAVE GOOD BALL.

A good game was witnessed yesterday afternoon at Boulevard park. The exhibition was the second of the season that could be described as having real work from the opening [illegible] point. The [illegible] approach to excitement in the score, the tying of the score in the sixth [illegible] and the removal of Andrews in the first inning, combined to make the contest interesting.

Sioux City dropped the second of the [illegible] because they were here outbatted and outfielded by the locals. The game was a pitchers' battle, with "Dusty" Coons again occupying the slab for the Ryanites and Kostal and Lindgman acting for the Swiles. "Dusty" furnished his redemption in the shape of a seven-hit total for the Indians. None of the hits were good for more than a single each, and, with the exception of the sixth inning, they were kept far apart. Coons was liberal with passes but evened up with the two visiting twirlers on the strike out question. Neither Kostal nor Lindgman furnished any transportation.

The locals started the scoring, getting two in the first, off two-baggers by Graham and Ryan, Fremer's error and Congalton's steal. Ryan's hit came last and did the work.

Dunn's Journey in Fourth.

The visitors made a single tally in the fourth when Dunn made the journey on his own single, a field play, Kostal's sacrifice and Hurlburt's out, Nill to Thornton. The Financiers also made one run in their half, Kahl's scoring on successive singles by himself, Messitt and Coons.

The score stood 3 to 1 until the sixth when the Sioux warriors danced around Coons for four singles, which brought in Hess and Dunn, with two earned runs. This [illegible] made things look shady for the Millionaires. But the home team was equal to the emergency and corralled four runs, which enabled them to place the victory in the bank. Blake got to first and second on Kelley's bad throw and Messitt reached the initial sack in safety because of Kostal's bobble in juggling a slow grounder. Coons sacrificed Messitt to second and both Blake and Messitt scored on Nill's rap to left garden. Graham sent a high one to center field and scored with Nill on Congalton's wallop for two cushions to Dunn's territory.

Double Foiled This.

Lindgman's box work prevented any further scoring on the locals part and two double plays and fast field work kept the Indians from getting any more tallies.

Jay Andrews, captain and manager of the Sioux City aggregation, forgot himself in the first inning and was fined and removed from the grounds by Umpire Carruthers. Carruthers had made a close decision at third in calling Graham safe and Andrews thought he had a kick coming. He kicked anyway, and later when he caught Thornton's foul, sarcastically called to the Indicator man: "How's that, Mr. Umpire?" And Carruthers wouldn't stand for it. "King" Kelley went in at third for Andrews and Parker, a pitcher, went to second.

MASS WON MARATHON

HE WAS CARRYING TOP WEIGHT AND WAS FAVORITE IN THE BETTING AT FORTY DOLLARS.—PACE SLOW.

New York, May 5.—Irish Lad won the thirteenth running of the Metropolitan handicap over the Withers mile at Morris Park today in easy fashion. He was carrying the top weight and was favorite in the betting by many points. Taking the lead in the first hundred yards he led his field without trouble. Although the favorite was [illegible] the horse seemed to feel his superiority and at the three-quarters slackened his speed as if unwilling to run faster than necessary. As it was, it the field closed up on him. Shaw then gave his mount a vigorous shaking up and Irish Lad drew out and won by two lengths from Tobassan, an added starter from the Keene stable. Beldame, winner of the Carter handicap a few weeks ago, was third after a nose and nose finish with the much vaunted Highball. Time 1:40. The race to the winner was worth about $21,700; $2,000 to the second and $1,000 to the third horse. The betting was 3 to 1 against Irish Lad.

GOWN AND GOWN WILL PLAY FOR GOVERNOR'S CUP.

The first round of the Governors' cup tournament, which has been delayed two weeks on account of inclement weather and the condition of the green at the Town and Gown links, will be played tomorrow. Entries for the tournament will close promptly at noon tomorrow, at which time the drawing will take place. The first round of the tournament, 18 holes will be played. The remaining 54 holes will be played on the three Saturdays following May 14, when the Town and Gown golfers go to Denver.

HUNTING TRUFFLES

Educated Pigs of the Tyrol Tells Where to Dig for the Delicacies of the Table.

Although a classic edible, the impersonality of the truffle has always barred its way to popular esteem, says the London Globe. If it were a thing of beauty, or if only it would condescend to make some visible sign of its existence, country folk would assuredly go "truffling" as they do mushrooming or blackberrying. But this eccentric tuber is one of the gnomes of the vegetable kingdom, and conceals itself so jealously that its successful quest demands both skill and experience. Truffles, therefore, are appropriately placed by botanists in the great order of cryptogams, and, like moles, ants and their underground work. Here today and gone tomorrow is the family motto, and they come and go in a manner which is perhaps best described as "freakish." So curious is the nature of their growth that they have been regarded as the product of a "kind of vegetable crystallization," while a yet older idea was that they form the connecting link between animal and vegetable life. Yet the one unqualified fact which comes down to us from the ancients is that they were very fond of eating them. They are referred to by Martial and Juvenal, and that great father of the kitchen, Apicius, makes many recommendations on their behalf. It is not a little curious, therefore, that, with all their partiality for these dainties, the Romans never attained any proficiency in truffle hunting, but were in the habit of digging up entire districts in speculative search for them.

Who, then, was the first truffle hunter? It is difficult to assign him a name, but it is pretty clear that he hunted on four legs. F. S. A. moles, badgers, have decided relish for the dusky tubers, nor are rats and even squirrels exempt from the same weakness. But chief among the rooting fraternity is the wild boar, while a good many of his domesticated descendants have also successfully carried on the business. Dearly, however, as the pig loves truffles, his owner loves them still more, and in southern Europe a trained porker is often employed in the search for them. So many of the peasants such an assistant is invaluable, for, guided by his movements, they are enabled to mark down with precision the spots likely to repay the trouble of excavation. Where truffles exist a trained nose is not often mistaken in their whereabouts, for their scent is so peculiar and penetrating that the "point" is easily made. They are generally found about a foot below the surface in a light, calcareous soil, and near (though seldom in—woods of beech, oak or fir. The hovering of a small blue fly over certain spots is regarded by some experts as a "sign" of the presence of truffles. But the majority of professional hunters find it difficult to dispense with the services of a trained four-footed assistant. On the continent the habit of relying upon the instinct of M. Cochon has so long obtained that it is regarded as a matter of course. But on our own breezy downs and commons the sight of a "pointer pig" leading the way, with his owner marking down and noting his observations, would be regarded as a little ridiculous. The French hunters, however, look at it through another pair of spectacles. With them it is a dry matter of business, and they are not always willing to the contrary of [illegible] the pleasure of which was probably one of the first incentives to our own practice of this precarious industry.—(Philadelphia Public Ledger.

TO STIMULATE TRAVEL TO COLORADO POINTS.

The passenger officials of the great railroad lines entering St. Louis have shown much interest in the work of the Colorado promotion and publicity committee, in its campaign to advertise the state, at the Louisiana Purchase exposition. These gentlemen, especially those officials of the railroads running west from St. Louis, have been supplied with large quantities of the committee's literature, at their urgent request, and they will aid the organization in every possible manner, in bringing the Centennial state to the attention of all persons visiting the Mound city this summer.

TEN AMERICAN PAINTERS

That enterprising, indefatigable and able band of artistic brethren who still call themselves "The Ten American Painters," although by the death of John W. Twatchman they are now only nine in number, are holding their annual exhibition at the Durand-Ruel galleries.

Faithful to their idea that quality and not quantity should distinguish a superior exhibition of pictures, they now show only thirty-seven canvases, including a characteristic low-keyed diaphonous "Waterfall," by Twatchman. These are divided between Benson, Hassam, Dewing, DeCamp, Metcalf, Reid, Tarbell and Weir, so that in reality, with the one exception noted, the display represents eight painters only.

Cleverness, boldness and virility are the distinguishing characteristics, as ever, of the exhibition. Childe Hassam is the more largely represented, with 12 canvases, which well exemplify his delightful art. Several of these are familiar and all are charming in light, tone color and that outdoor sense which he so well expresses. Perhaps the most appealing are the "Moonrise at Sunset," even with the straight backed and long armed nude girl; the delicate "Spring Morning," the "Winter Morning," and, to lovers of the sea, "The Sunken Rock." Of F. W. Benson's four examples the three-quarter length standing portrait "Woman with Black Hat," stunning in effect and admirable in detail, and the lovely outdoor study "Child with Shell," are the best. The [illegible] portrait of Mr. Albert Baker, by Joseph De Camp, is disappointing in color and modeling. Robert Reid is too sparsely represented, with only three examples, but all are strong. One, "September," a decorative panel, has a delightful color scheme of browns, and the half-length character study, "Gaspar," finely modeled, clear and fresh in color and has striking expression and light effect.

Very delicate in color and graceful in drawing is T. W. Dewing's allegorical group for a piano cover for the White house, his sole contribution to the display. Of Willard Metcalf's three examples "Convalescence," a study of a young woman, lying on her sick bed reading, is the strongest and by far the best work from his brush in some time.

There are good painting and drawing and refined feeling in E. C. Tarbell's decorative "Blue Bowl" and clever light effect in his "Girl Peeping Through Blinds." Six examples of J. MONUMENT OF WRECKED SAFES

A way of utilizing the wrecked safes which are strewn about in the burned district has been suggested by Mr. J. M. Barron. Mr. Barron says that in skillful hands the unsightly iron boxes could be made into a lasting monument to the great catastrophe that visited the city. The Chicago monument, which was erected shortly after the great fire, is still a forceful reminder of that awful time. It is located in Central park, and is an object of interest to visitors to that city. The same could be done here, Mr. Barron says if the merchants and others who own the destroyed safes would contribute the same and the city assume the responsibility of the building of the monument. Mr. Barron thinks that the monument should be erected as close as possible to the place where the great fire originated, and suggests the triangle at Park avenue and Fayette street as the proper location for such a project. It is estimated that there is in the fire district about 2,000 safes a majority of which were wrecked beyond further use as office furniture, and are practically valueless except as old iron.—(The Baltimore American.

BEAR CREEK ROAD DAMAGES SLIGHT

SPECIAL RAINS HAD CONSIDERABLY LITTLE EFFECT ON COLORADO PALMER'S CANON BOULEVARD.

The Bear Creek boulevard suffered comparatively little from the recent rain and snow storm in the mountains. The total damage to the road is about $500, according to information given out at the offices of General Palmer. This damage can easily be repaired and the road will soon be placed in shape again by Engineer H. I. Reed.

The road runs between Bear creek and North Cheyenne canon and has been in daily use by tourists and sightseers. The rain and melting snow have formed a number of small gullies in the road in places, but these can be easily filled.

The defendant gave bond to appear for trial in that court this morning at 8 o'clock. It appears that Reed was arrested on a warrant charging him with using profane language. The complaining witness is J. F. Woodward, a resident of Broadmoor.

PARLOR CAMP FIRES

They Burned at the Y. M. C. A. Last Night and Old Campaigners Sat Around Them and Had Jolly Time.

A camp reunion was held last evening by the members of the Boys department of the Y. M. C. A. and all had a very jolly time.

In the parlors everything was arranged to resemble the camp of last summer. Tents were pitched, trees placed about and the camp table set. "Si," the colored camp cook, was on hand and served "French toast," which was a favorite dish with the boys. Camp fires burned in a very realistic way, songs were sung and stories told. Mr. Vories, the camp poet, who kept a daily record in rhyme last summer, read his clever "Reuben Strackback's Diary," and everything was as merry as possible.

All interested friends were made welcome and quite a number of spectators were present to enjoy the unique scene.

SEVENTEEN-YEAR-OLD FRED CARTER STARTS ON JOURNEY TO CHICAGO WITH PAUL WRIGHT IN AUTOMOBILE.

All the way to Chicago in an auto and only nine days in which to make the trip was the agreement that Fred E. Carter, a 17-year old chauffeur, started to carry out with Paul Wright yesterday.

Mr. Wright must reach Chicago by May 21, and young Carter, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Carter, of 669 South Nevada avenue, agreed to land him there by that time. The two left on their journey of 1300 miles at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in Mr. Wright's automobile, which was well equipped for any emergency that may arise. If Mr. Wright finds he cannot reach Chicago by auto in time, he will take the train as a last resort and his boy chauffeur will complete the journey alone.

"But we will make it all right, all right," was the firm opinion expressed by Carter just before leaving.

Last Day of Vaudeville.

This is the last day of vaudeville at the Casa house for more than a week to come. Tomorrow the company will move over to Manitou for two days and the following week there will be no vaudeville as two big shows are scheduled. Large audiences may be expected today.

The entire program was changed at the vaudeville yesterday. All of the ladies put on new songs. Miss St. Claire's colored slides are fairylike in their beauty.

Next Week's Engagement.

The importance of Richard Mansfield's production of the great Russian tragedy "Ivan the Terrible" will doubtless at first cause a little helpless confusion in the public mind regarding the noble author, but it is easily explained. To the American public there is known only one Tolstoi, the philosopher, novelist and writer of problem unactable plays. In Russia there are two Tolstois, Count Lyoff and Count Alexis, and the latter is the author of the play in which Mansfield has triumphed, "Ivan the Terrible." He is a writer of historic novels and plays which give him a distinguished position in Russian literature. Mansfield's play of "Ivan the Terrible" is one of an historical trinity of which the other two are "The Tzar Feodor" and "The Tzar Boris." Alexis Tolstoi is also the author of a great historical romance, Prince Serebryatsi, in which Ivan the Terrible is the central figure. Mansfield will be seen at the Opera house on Thursday, May 12, in "Ivan the Terrible."

Performances will be given Saturday afternoon and evening at the Casa house, it being the date of the appearance of Richard & Pringle's famous Georgia Minstrels.

The annual engagement of this famous company never fails to bring out the colored folks, so much so that the upper floors of the theatre are always reserved for them, and they always fill them to overflowing, while the lower floor is always packed with the white element. The excellent performances given by this company will be improved upon this visit. They have a whole log of new people and the word is passed along the line that it is the best show they ever had. Well, if it beats last season it certainly must be a corker. The matinee will begin at 2:30. Prices will be children, 10c; adults, 25c. FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1904.

THE DENVER GRAND JURY.

THAT even a grand jury is not safe from the machinations of a political machine is evidenced by the batch of indictments returned on Tuesday by the body which is now sitting in Denver.

This jury though composed largely of Democrats, was in a position to be entirely fair and impartial. But apparently the district attorney was anything but that. It is evident that he used his office at the behest of the Democratic machine in order to asperse the character and good name of men whose only crime was that they were Republicans.

Three of the indictments brought were against Republicans. They included Alderman Cochran, Supervisor Lowry and W. A. Dollison, candidate for alderman. All these men are upon the Republican ticket for re-election. Each and every one of them in his capacity as public official has been fighting the registration fraud committed by the Democratic machine in Denver. It is mainly through the efforts of Messrs. Lowry and Cochran that the padded rolls were brought into the light of day.

The answer to their efforts from the Democratic machine has been an indictment charging these men with padding the registrations.

It is unquestionably a piece of political chicanery which the desperate Democracy of the city of Denver is endeavoring to cloak with a semblance of a legal process.

Mr. Lowry is out of the city, but Messrs. Cochran and Dollison at once appeared before the court and demanded an immediate trial, as was their due. They declared that they were candidates before the people, and that it was just and proper that the matter should be disposed of one way or another before election.

The court, however, saw fit to set their cases over until May 21, four days after election. Thus the purpose of the machine and of the Democratic district attorney will be subserved in that a cloud will rest upon these men until after election.

On the other hand, no indictment whatever was found against Edward C. Soetje, a Democratic member of the elections commission, whose complicity in padding registration has been shown over and over again, going even to the extent of a list of names in his own handwriting presented to the county clerk for padding purposes.

This is merely a sample of the outrageous way in which the people of Denver are being misgoverned. Machine politics of the most despicable type runs through every branch of municipal life and no citizen can be certain either of his good name, of his reputation, or his property if he should perchance happen to offend the political harpies of that great city.

SPEECHES IN PARLIAMENT.

THE recent breakdown of Winston Churchill while making a speech in parliament recalls the fact that there is an unwritten law in that body against the reading of written speeches.

Just how the rule originated is not clear, but certain it is that it has had the effect of greatly enlivening the proceedings of parliament and of helping many a man along the path to oratorical fame.

It would perhaps be better if all public speeches were committed to this practice, for it does not mean that speeches shall not be carefully prepared but that they shall be delivered without the use of manuscript.

Churchill's failure probably will not discourage him, however, for he has the satisfaction of knowing that many of the best orators in British public life including Disraeli, made a failure in their first attempts to address the house of commons.

MR. CLEVELAND EXPLAINS.

GROVER CLEVELAND has at this late date come to the defense of his policies in the pivotal years of 1894, 1895 and 1896.

It may be true that it was necessary to protect the gold reserves and the credit of the nation in this way, but the fact remains that neither before nor since has any Republican administration found it advisable to adopt similar measures.

Hence it appears perfectly clear that under a Democratic president it becomes necessary to preserve the financial integrity of the nation by extraordinary and abnormal ways while under Republican administration the national credit is of the highest order, with a full treasury, abundant reserves and a steady decrease of the national debt.

Our old friend James B. Weaver bobs up in Iowa again as a Hearst delegate to the Democratic convention. Weaver has been in and out of so many factions in the last 20 years that it must require a private secretary to keep him straight.

The Methodist conference at Los Angeles appears to have all the fire to have plenty of light upon its proceedings. Now just wait for it in the form of a flashlight.

Editor Hearst is evidently a Republican, the Iowa Democratic convention having declared for him.

Senator Gorman is hinting that Charles A. Towne is likely to be the Democratic nominee for the presidency. The Maryland senator is probably of the opinion that if it cannot be Gorman it won't be Parker, if he can help it.

John Sharp Williams picks Judge Parker as a sure winner. There is now nothing to prevent the New York jurist from suggesting that Congressman Williams would make a good candidate for the vice-presidency.

The Colorado Springs ball team is now on top and thus history repeats itself.

With the Little Folks

WHISTLED FOR THE OTHER BOY.

The small boy was coming home at a much later hour than he was want to be out alone. It was growing quite dark, and as he came through the grove he could be heard whistling vigorously, if not very tunefully, long before he reached the lane. The elders exchanged amused glances.

"What made you whistle so loudly, Willie?" asked one of them as the little fellow entered.

"Well, you see," answered Willie, soberly, "it was pretty dark out there, and I thought if some boy—some little boy—should be coming along he might be afraid, and it would be real lonesome for him if he heard me whistle."

Whistling to keep up the courage of some other boy, says Forward, had brought the young traveler bravely home. No one knows how much the cheery note in the darkness may help someone else, and always it makes one's step firmer.

ONLY NATURAL.

"Speaking of animals, in my opinion the elephant is the cleverest of them all," said the old circus man. "I remember once, many years ago, when Jacko, who was then in my charge, showed me one day that he could read."

"Oh, come now!" said the listener.

"I'll prove it to you in about two minutes. Well, as I was saying, the old fellow got into a scrape with the royal Bengal tiger, and before we could get them separated he had his trunk pretty badly damaged. After the scrimmage was over, Jacko broke loose and started down the street fast. 'He's goin' wild,' somebody shouted. 'Don't you believe it,' said I. 'Now, where do you suppose that elephant went to?'

"'Went to the surgeon's I suppose. Can't you get a better yarn—'

"No; he didn't go to the surgeon's either. He went straight to a little shop where a sign read: 'Trunks repaired while you wait.' Of course, he had made a mistake, but what do you expect of a poor dumb brute?"

TOO BUSY TO MAKE A NOISE.

A Kansas City teacher of a kindergarten was incapacitated from work one day last week by the following incident. The subject of the lecture and object lesson was animals, birds and their noises.

"Now, children," said the teacher, "I want each of you to think of some animal or bird and try for a moment to be like the particular one you are thinking about, and make the same kind of noises they are in the habit of making."

Here was the command. Here the finale.

Instantly the schoolroom became a menagerie. Lions roaring, dogs barking, birds singing and twittering, cows lowing, calves bleating, cats meowing, etc., all in an uproar and excitement—all with one single exception.

Off in a remote corner a little fellow was sitting perfectly still, apparently indifferent and unmindful of all the rest. The teacher, observing him, approached and said:

"Waldo, why are you not taking part with the other children?"

Waving her off with a deprecating hand and wide, rebuking eyes, he fervently whispered:

"Sh—oh—sh, teacher—sh! I'm a 'oyster, and I'm a-layin' a egg."—Kansas City Star.

Good Short Stories

NO LACK OF ESCORTS FOR HER.

She is bewitchingly pretty, not quite sweet 16, and the idol of her parents, who live within a stone's throw, but out of sight of the Friends' meeting house, corner Park place and Laurens street, says the Baltimore Sun.

There was something festal doing for young people the other night at the meeting house; the daughter was to attend, but it was deemed unnecessary to make any provision for escorting her home, since the affair was supposed to be adapted to the early retiring hours of school girls and boys and to be over by 9 o'clock.

It was 10 p. m. before the parents awoke to the realization that the daughter had not returned, and the father, who had been ill with throat trouble, got his hat and went to fetch her. He returned in a few minutes saying that the entertainment was at its height, the girl appeared to be having the time of her life and he had slipped away without even letting her know he was there.

The family again settled down to easy chairs and fresh magazines and forgot all about the matter until 11:30 chimed from a Swiss clock and the wife, brought to the realization of the lateness of the hour, became quite alarmed. The husband again set out to bring his daughter home. When a further half hour had passed and neither of them returned the wife and mother became really panic-stricken.

"Now it will be just like John not to go into that building," she communed with herself, "but to stand on a bleak street corner and get more pneumonia waiting for Katie to come out."

Overcome with apprehension, she flung a cloak about her and herself sallied forth, determined to round up the missing ones in short order. However, before her foot touched the pavement the ridiculousness of the affair overcame her—the idea of the whole family in the street at that hour of the night created utter nonsense. "I'll go back," she said, and back she went, to find she had fastened herself out of doors and the maid was far too remote and too soundly asleep for any degree of ringing the door bell to arouse her.

So there the lady stood shivering in the vestibule until after midnight, the fair Maid Marion returned radiant and joyous. She was escorted by a stalwart young man, a fellow-member of her Sunday school class; she was chaperoned by a dignified physician, a friend of her parents. She was further looked after by her father, who had awaited her on the pneumonia-inducing corner, and the half-frozen mother watching the approach of the merry group was driven to realize that endowed as the girl was with youth and charm, the question of who was to escort her home from parties might hereafter be safely left to her own handling.

NEW MOTORMAN EXPLAINS.

The motormen of the Carey street line are telling a story of a new motorman on the line, says the Baltimore Sun. The new man had only been a month or so from the eastern shore. He had been told to always stop his car when any of the wagons of the fire department move in sight. This was impressed upon him.

About two or three days later he was taking his car down South Charles street, when he heard the bells of a fire engine. He brought his car to a stop, and in a half minute a hose wagon and engine came driving around the corner.

As soon as the hose wagon had passed by and the engine had followed he started his car. At that minute a hook and ladder truck came down the street, the driver, the lieutenant and the men on the foot yelling like mad for him to stop. He disregarded them and as a result, because the truck had to stop short to avoid a collision.

The occurrence was reported, and when the motorman was called up he said:

"Well, I let the fire engines go by all right, and gave them plenty o' room. But I was this turned the corner came a gang of drunken fellers on a long wagon loaded with ladders and buckets. An' I said to myself, says I, that I won't let no gang of rowin' fellers hold my car."

SMOOTHING TROUBLE AT SEA.

Harry Lehr and John Jacob Astor visited Philadelphia recently in a motor car. They stayed overnight in Philadelphia, and during the evening a number of young men called on them.

Mr. Lehr was in good spirits. His conversation was amusing. The talk happened to turn on sea voyaging, and he said:

Once, crossing the Atlantic, a tremendous row arose among the sailors. They fought down in the forecastle like a pack of wild beasts. Luncheon was going on at the time, and the first officer left the table to see if he could quell the disturbance.

He had only been gone a little while when the hubbub began to die down. Everything was quiet when he returned. The captain called across the saloon to him in an annoying tone:

"Things seem to be smoother now."

"Yes," returned the first officer, "we have smoothed them out with a belaying pin."

FIFTY CENTS A MONTH

A small bottle of Scott's Emulsion costing fifty cents will last a baby a month. A few drops in its bottle each time it is fed. That's a small outlay for so large a return of health and comfort.

Babies that are given Scott's Emulsion quickly respond to its helpful action. It seems to contain just the elements which baby needs most.

Ordinary food frequently lacks this nourishment; Scott's Emulsion always supplies it.

Walk Yourself Well

A certain man of San Francisco, who was bereaved and ill-treated by fortune and associates, had been given up by all the physicians to die of consumption, ranked that he would go out upon the hills of Marin county, where the dew would fall upon him, and the sun bid him a fond farewell. He gained forth; said finding that the time was longer in taking them he expected, he kept on and on. Instead of coming nearer to the death he had counted upon, he found that he was going farther away from it. He began to get well as he tramped eastward; and, to make a long story short, he arrived at Philadelphia the other day in a robust state of health, having walked all the way from ocean to ocean.

This man's case is not singular. More than one good physician has told a patient, tuberculous or nervous, "I can cure you if you will go barefooted," and by this he has not meant that there is any curative efficacy in bareness of feet. The therapeutic effect resides in the conditions of life which make bare feet in the open air possible. For that matter, all farmers know the efficacy that lies in turning a hopelessly sick animal "out to grass." The creature, in that case, is supposed to find, by instinct, somewhere in the pasture or the wood, a plant—be human

MINERS ARE RESUMING WORK

Force of Men Again Employed in Cripple Creek—Some Difficulty Still Experienced but Output Will Soon Be Normal.

Special to the Gazette and Colorado Springs Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 5.—Owing to the severe snowstorm that has been raging in the district since Sunday last, a large number of the mines were compelled to suspend operations. Those that did work have had a limited force. Today, however, all properties are working their full complement of men.

A number of the properties that use electricity were closed down for want of motive power, the wires either being down or failing to supply the necessary force.

No attempt has been made up until today to send out any ore but a number of properties which intend to ship today were prevented from doing so on account of the impassable roads. Many of the medium and smaller mines of the district, especially those situated with no railroad switches to their mines are feeling the need of coal. This will probably continue for two or three days as the roads are almost impassable. It was a common sight today to see a wagon with four to eight horses hitched to it hauling from one to two tons of coal to the properties.

This shortage will only last a day or two at the most.

LESSEES OBJECT TO HIGH ROYALTIES

THE THOMPSON AND TORNADO CLAIMS MAY BOTH REVERT TO ELKTON COMPANY ON JUNE 1—THE LESSEES' STATEMENT.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 5.—Lessee Wright operating under lease the Thompson claim of the Elkton company today stated to your representative that he will surrender the property on June 1. He gave as his reason the exorbitant royalty exacted by the Elkton company.

Mr. Wright recently secured an extension of his lease but at the same time the royalty was raised to a 25 per cent flat royalty. Beside this large percentage he is compelled to do considerable development work and all claims between the two, the company took up all the profits.

Mr. Wright and associates since obtaining their lease on the Thompson claim have sent out over 28,000 tons of ore which averaged in the neighborhood of $18 to the ton. He has paid to the Elkton company over $50,000 in royalties and has proven a money maker for lessee as well as for the company.

Lessee Clement operating the Tornado of the same company will in all probability forfeit his lease at the expiration of same on June 1. This is also due largely to the same account. While Lessee Clements has made a small fortune for himself and the Elkton company during the time of the lease, he has failed to make an application for an extension of the lease on account of the high royalty.

LADY SMITH ORE

Lessee Reports That the Grade Is Improving as Development Progresses. Will Sink 100 Feet.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 5.—Lessee Basey and associates who recently secured a lease on the Lady Smith claim belonging to the Stratton estate and located on Globe hill, report that the grade of ore found at surface is improving as development progresses. The lessees are confining most of their energies to development work and prospecting since securing the lease. They have now sunk a shaft some 25 feet below the wash. It is their intention to go to a depth of 100 feet before attempting any extensive mining work. The vein encountered near surface varies from three to five feet in width and while as yet the ore does not pay to ship, it is proving richer with every foot of work accomplished, so with depth it is quite likely that the lessees will commence shipping ore to paying quantities before very long.

LESSEE KEARNS EXPECTS TO MAKE PRODUCTION OF $40,000 GROSS DURING THE PRESENT MONTH.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 5.—Lessee George Keener who recently secured a lease on the Globe claim on the same famed hill and a part of the Stratton estate since obtaining the lease on April 12 cars of ore which gave returns of 150 ounces to the ton. The lessee will make an attempt during the present month to ship in the neighborhood of 25 carloads of the same grade of ore. This means if the ore shoot holds out as it now has every prospect of doing this lease will send out in the neighborhood of $40,000 gross during the month. Large ore bins have recently been erected and as the mines tonnage can be handled with ease.

The location of this new find reports to be rather an interesting one but little ore was ever mined and shipped from this hill. The ore on Mr. Keener's lease is broken down into a chute where it drops into a tunnel and runs into the ore bins, making it very easily handled
